BREAKING NEWS REGARDING USTPA 2014 CINCH WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP:

Released: 5/28/14

Due to the tremendous growth in competitor participation at USTPA shows, the USTPA 2014 Cinch World Championship will be expanding to 7 days of competition in 2014!

New Dates: October 6-12, 2014

The USTPA 2014 Cinch World Championship will now begin on Monday, October 6, 2014 and run through Sunday, October 12, 2014 in Fort Worth, Texas. The first 5 days of competition will be for Team Penning, with the Penning Finals on Friday night. Ranch Sorting classes will run to completion on Saturday and Sunday. The USTPA will release a complete schedule of events within the next few weeks.

New Arena & Stalling: Will Rogers Coliseum

With this expanded schedule, the competition will also be moved to the Will Rogers Coliseum at the Will Rogers Memorial Center. The historic, main coliseum at the Will Rogers Memorial Center hosts the country's most prestigious equine events and is adjacent to the Burnett Building. This huge structure will provide the USTPA with more stalls, cattle pens and a warm-up arena, all in one building. If necessary, over-flow stalling will also be readily available in the new stalls in the cattle barns, located just south (across the street) of the Coliseum and Burnett Building.

More information regarding the USTPA 2014 Cinch World Championship will be added as available to the World Championship page at www.USTPA.com
